The Daily Courant.

Wedneſday, January 13. 1703.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Jan. 13.

Madrid, December 21.

THE laſt Advices from the King tell us, That on the 12th of this Month he was at Perpignan, and it being believ'd that he will ſtop at Montſerrat, we do not expect him here till towards the middle of next Month. On the 16th there were affix'd in divers Places, Copies of two Edicts of the Council, one commanding the Amirante of Caſtile to appear within 3 days, perſonally, in the Caſtle of Alameda, to juſtifie himſelf for having formally diſobey'd the King's Orders in retiring out of the Kingdom, inſtead of going to France as his Ambaſſador, with which Character he was honour'd by his Majeſty; for having counterfeited Orders from the Queen, to further his Eſcape; for having held Intelligence and conferr'd with the Enemies of the Government; and finally, for having broken his Oath of Allegiance, and conſpir'd againſt the State, and the publick Peace. By the other Edict, Don Angelo de Mendoza, and 10 other Perſons who are with the Amirante, are charg'd to ſurrender themſelves Priſoners: In default of which, they will be further proceeded againſt, as the Law ſhall direct.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Jan. 16.

Vienna, Jan. 4. The Duke de Moles, formerly Ambaſſador of Spain to this Court, is fallen under the heavy Diſpleaſure of the King of Spain, on a bare Suſpicion that he holds a Correſpondence with the Amirante of Caſtile, and ſides with the Imperial Court againſt the preſent Government of Spain; for which all his Eſtate in the Kingdom of Naples is confiſcated.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Jan. 18.

Reggio, Jan. 1. Monſieur d'Aubigny is advanc'd with ſome Troops beyond Modena; and 'tis thought, is order'd to attack San Felice and Finale. Monſieur Albergotti who has been out for 14 days with 10 Companies of Grenadiers, and 20 Troops of Horſe and Dragoons, which were drawn out of the Garriſon of this Place and Modena, is come back again. On the 24th of December, he was within a Mile of Mirandola, and detach'd 200 Horſe and as many Grenadiers, to take a cloſer View of that Place, who within Muſquet-ſhot of the Town, fell upon 100 Arm'd Peaſants, ſome of which they kill'd, and then retir'd with a little loſs.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Jan. 20.

Venice, Jan. 6. On Saturday Morning Prince Eugene of Savoy arriv'd here from the Imperial Army, in the Evening he appear'd at the Opera, and on Sunday at Break of Day ſet out for Vienna. We are told by ſome Paſſengers, that the French ſent a Detachment of 400 Horſe and as many Foot to attack Torbole, a Place belonging to the Emperor on the Frontiers of Trent: But being inform'd that the Inhabitants had put themſelves into a Poſture of Defence, they return'd back, without attempting any thing.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Jan. 16.

Berlin, Jan 6. The new Levy of 6000 Men is carried on with great diligence: 20000 Men will likewiſe march towards the Middle Rhine, very ſhortly, who 'tis ſaid will be joyn'd by 10000 Heſſians. On the 22d of this Month the King will go to Magdeburg, where the Hereditary Prince of Heſſe Caſſel is to meet him. The Velt Marſhal Wartenſleben is gone to Caſſel: And 'tis diſcours'd that Miniſters will be ſent to the Courts of Wolfenbuttel and Munſter, to make a ſtricter Alliance between them and our Court.

Cologne, Jan. 12. The Heer Rheinfeld, the Scout of Bensberg, a Town belonging to the Elector Palatine, arriv'd here two days ago from Bonn, where he has been detain'd a Priſoner for ſeveral Months, being now ſet at liberty for a Ranſon of 9000 Rix-dollars. The Baron of Trimbern, who was one of the Members of the Diet lately held here, was taken by a Party of French as he was returning homewards, and carry'd Priſoner into Bonn, together with Burgomaſter Lintz and ſome other Gentlemen.

Cologne, Jan. 16. The Huſſars have block'd up one of the Enemy's Parties in the Caſtle of Caroliſtein, who 'tis believ'd muſt yield themſelves up in a little time. We have Advice that the Allies took the Caſtle of Saffenburg on the River Aa, on Saturday laſt by Capitulation, after they had batter'd it with 2 Mortars and 4 Cannon, the Garriſon conſiſted of 300 Men.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Jan. 18.

Liege, Jan. 13. Laſt Night a Detachment of 700 Men of this Garriſon, which went towards Viviers to bring off ſome Hay, return'd hither. The Horſe in Garriſon here are in a bad condition for want of Proviſions. If the French keep their Word with the Elector our Prince, he will be put into Poſſeſſion of this City agen, before the end of March. Marſhal Bouffiers, who has caus'd ſome Troops to draw this way, is making ready to make a Diverſion hereabouts, when the Allies ſhall attempt any thing on the Rhine. We are hard at Work to make 3 detach'd Baſtions before the Citadel.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Jan. 20.

Liege, Jan. 16. The Baron de Mean, Brother of our great Dean, is come hither from the Hague, and the Deputies of the States aſſembled here are gone thither. The Enemy has laid an Embargo on all the Veſſels on the Maes and Sambre, and ſeem reſolv'd in good earneſt to make us a Viſit next Month. They have Shipp'd off ſome Artillery at Namur, which will be employ'd on the Sambre. We expect ſome Battallions to reinforce our Garriſon, which is order'd to be ready to march on ſome Expedition that will be undertaken as ſoon as we have Froſty Weather.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Jan 18.

Hamburg, Jan. 12. They write from Holſtein that 2 or 3000 Holſteiners, and 4000 Wolfenbuttelers, will march for Holland by the firſt of March.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Jan. 20.

Venice, Jan. 3. They write from Genoa that the Engliſh Conſul there buys up a great Quantity of Proviſions, &c. which makes it ſuppos'd that a Squadron of Engliſh Ships will come into the Mediterranean.

Hague,

Hague, Jan. 16. 'Tis confirm'd that the Squadron commanded by Rear-Admiral Vander Duſſen was out of the Maes on Saturday laſt, and ſailing for England.

My Lord Winchelſea, is pretty well recover'd of his Indiſpoſition, and will ſhortly go to Hanover.

London, Jan. 12. The Election of a Chamberlain of this City, was appointed to be to day, but Sir Robert Bedlingfield's Indiſpoſition not ſuffering him to come abroad, and it being requiſite that both the Sheriffs ſhould be preſent, this Election is put off.

TO the Nobility and Gentry: A Gentleman in travelling hath brought with him an Invention, wherewith he can grind Chocolate finer and with greater Expedition than others with a Stone: It is of that nature that it cannot draw any thing from the Nut; that the Undertaker can afford to ſell the beſt Chocolate that can be made in England, from the beſt Spaniſh Nuts, call'd Crackers, made up with fine Loaf Sugar, and inrich'd with plenty of the beſt Vanello, 12 d. in a pound cheaper than any in London, and is much better for making this way, as many perſons of Quality do acknowledge upon ſight of the Invention; but more eſpecially in melting the Chocolate; the Town is crowded with foul Chocolate; therefore to avoid being impoſed upon, by paying extravagant Rates for the beſt, you will find it cheaper, and as good as you can make it at home, and nicely made up in ſmall Cakes. Take as ſmall or great a Quantity as you pleaſe, and if miſliked your Money again, and Carriage paid from any part of England. The Chocolate is to be had, and the Invention to be ſeen, next Door to the Bull-head a Milliners Shop in Dean-ſtreet between Holbourn and Red-Lion-Square.
